Case No. CV 10-02991 MWF (JCGx)

Referred under Cal. Code Civ. Proc.
Section 638 to:

Hon. Carl J. West (Ret.)
JAMS Reference No. 1220044628

DECLARATION OF CASONDRA K.
RUGA IN SUPPORT OF DEFENDANT TWENTIETH
CENTURY FOX FILM
CORPORATION'S APPLICATION
PURSUANT TO FRCP 56(d)

[Fox's Application Pursuant to FRCP 56(d) filed concurrently herewith]

Filing Date: April 21, 2010
Hearing Date: January 24, 2014
Hearing Time: 9:00 a.m.

DECLARATION OF CASONDRA K. RUGA

I, Casondra K. Ruga, declare as follows:

1. I am an attorney duly licensed to practice law before all courts of the State of California and am a senior associate with the law firm of Alston & Bird LLP, attorneys of record herein for Defendant Twentieth Century Fox Film Corporation (“Fox”). I make this declaration in support of Fox’s Application pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (“FRCP”) 56(d). I have personal knowledge of the facts set forth in this declaration and if called as a witness, could and would testify competently to them.

Plaintiffs' Motions for Partial Summary Judgment Rely on Premature Expert Declarations

2. According to the Referee's July 23, 2013 Scheduling Order, Initial Expert Disclosures are set to be exchanged on February 10, 2014, Rebuttal Expert Disclosures are due February 24, 2014, and the expert discovery deadline is March 30, 2014. Attached hereto as Exhibit 1 is a true and correct copy of the Scheduling Order.

3. Although expert discovery has not yet even commenced, on November 8, 2013 Plaintiff Bagdasarian Productions, LLC (“BPL”) filed its Motion for Partial Summary Judgment on Certain Breach of Contract Claims relying on an expert declaration from Christian Tregillis, a forensic accountant (“Tregillis Declaration”). On November 8, 2013 Plaintiff Janice Karman (“Karman”) filed her own Motion for Partial Summary Judgment on Implied Contract Claims relying on expert testimony in the form of a Declaration of Frederic I. Bernstein (“Bernstein Declaration”).

4. The parties met and conferred on November 1, 2013 over anticipated motions for summary judgment. Plaintiffs gave no notice of their intent to rely on expert declarations in support of their motions. Plaintiffs made no attempt to set a schedule that would permit depositions of any experts in connection with the briefing schedule. Fox assumed that the parties' motions would be based on undisputed facts,

1 not expert opinions, and that any expert opinions relevant to the controversy would be 2 submitted in accordance with the Referee's schedule for this matter (should there be 3 any issues that survive summary judgment that require expert testimony). Instead, 4 Plaintiffs without prior notice submitted expert declarations in support of their 5 Motions on November 8, 2013. Notably, Fox's counsel Lou Karasik was involved in 6 preparation and deposition of Tom Rothman, a witness in this matter, on November 7 12 and 13, was away on other business on November 14 and 15, and was out of the 8 Country from November 18 until just before the Thanksgiving holiday. Fox had no 9 obligation to conduct immediate depositions of experts during the time period Fox 10 was allotted to respond to Plaintiffs' Motions, and no obligation to conduct any expert 11 discovery before the orderly exchange of expert opinions and scheduling of 12 depositions required by the schedule in February 2014, but even if Fox had wanted to 13 do so, it was not possible.

14       5. As detailed in Fox's opposition papers and Fox's own motion for partial 15 summary judgment, Fox submits that the expert materials relied upon by Plaintiffs do 16 not support their claims and do not avoid dismissal of the claims on Fox's motion.
17 Fox's position is that Plaintiffs' expert opinions are irrelevant and that no expert 18 discovery is necessary because Plaintiffs' claims fail as a matter of law based on the 19 undisputed facts.

20       6. In the event, however, that the Referee finds the expert material pertinent 21 to Plaintiffs' motions, Fox submits that Plaintiffs' motions cannot fairly be decided 22 because Fox has not had opportunity to examine the experts and otherwise present 23 facts pertinent to the Tregillis Declaration or Bernstein Declaration that are material 24 and necessary to oppose Plaintiffs' reliance on these materials in Plaintiffs' Motions.
25 These facts include cross-examination of Plaintiffs' experts to determine the basis of 26 their opinions, to confront them with facts not accounted for in their declarations, to 27 demonstrate the inadequacies of their conclusions and to otherwise rebut their expert 28 testimony. The facts Fox has had no opportunity to present include expert testimony

1 from Fox's own experts challenging the conclusions of Plaintiffs' experts and 2 providing additional testimony pertinent to the issues. To the extent the Referee holds 3 that any portion of the Tregillis Declaration or Bernstein Declaration is relevant and 4 admissible, Fox requests additional time to respond to this evidence and submits that 5 Plaintiffs' Motions cannot be determined until Fox is given an opportunity to do so.

6       7. I detail below each of the following: (1) the facts indicating a likelihood 7 that controverting evidence exists with respect to Plaintiffs' Motions; (2) the reasons 8 why such evidence has been unavailable to Fox; (3) the steps or procedures by which 9 Fox proposes to obtain such evidence; and (4) an explanation of how those facts will 10 defeat Plaintiffs' Motions.

11       Expert Discovery Will Further Contradict BPL's Purported Undisputed
12       Facts Set Forth in its Motion Relating to Soundtrack Royalties

13       8. Expert discovery is set to open in February 2014. Assuming he is 14 identified as Plaintiffs' expert at that time, Fox intends to depose Mr. Tregillis. Facts 15 pertinent to Fox's opposition to Plaintiffs' Motion will be obtained by deposition of 16 Mr. Tregillis. Fox will diligently work to ensure that expert discovery is completed 17 pursuant to the deadlines set forth in the Referee's July 2013 Scheduling Order. (Ex.

18 1.) No such evidence could possibly have been obtained beforehand because the 19 Tregillis Declaration only surfaced on November 8, with no prior notice, and the time 20 period for exchange of expert reports and depositions does not commence until 21 February 2014.

22       9. A deposition of Tregillis will inquire, among other things, into the nature 23 of his calculations relating to the purported underreporting of units to BPL for the 24 Alvin and the Chipmunks ("Alvin") soundtrack album and his conclusions relating to 25 Fox's alleged underreporting of royalties to BPL on both the Alvin and the Alvin and 26 the Chipmunks: The Squeakquel ("The Squeakquel") soundtrack albums. Fox will 27 ask Tregillis questions relating to his comparison of the statements Fox received from 28 Razor & Tie ("R&T") on the Alvin and the Chipmunks ("Alvin") soundtrack album

1 (that reported to Fox the total revenues less actual costs and expenses) with the royalty
2 participant statements sent to BPL (that instead reduced the reported units by free-3 goods and discounted unit deductions/reductions). In addition, Fox will examine 4 Tregillis on his knowledge of the music industry and on his experiences relating to the 5 20 royalty audits he has conducted prior to his participation in this litigation.

6 10. For each of the conclusions reached by Tregillis, Fox intends to 7 undertake cross-examination of Tregillis that will demonstrate his methodology is 8 flawed, he relies on mistaken assumptions, he has reached erroneous conclusions and 9 that his opinions are not reliable or correct.

10 11. In addition, to dispute Tregillis's testimony Fox intends to obtain expert 11 evidence of its own. Specifically, Fox intends to rely on at least the expert testimony 12 of William R. Ackerman ("Ackerman"), a Certified Public Accountant with Freeman
13 & Mills with over 20 years of experience as an auditor and a consultant. Ackerman's 14 testimony will include at least all of the following:

- 15 a. Ackerman will provide evidence regarding the computation of BPL's 16 soundtrack royalties for the Alvin and The Squeakquel albums that 17 differs substantially from Tregillis's calculations. Unlike Tregillis, 18 Ackerman's testimony will be based on the plain words of the 19 Agreement, together with Fox's agreements with the soundtrack
20 distributors, R&T and Rhino. Ackerman will contradict Tregillis' 21 conclusions that there has been an underpayment of royalties.
- 22 b. Unlike Tregillis, Ackerman has spoken directly with R&T about their 23 accounting and reporting methods and can speak to the reporting of 24 units with actual knowledge of the methodologies used. Ackerman 25 will contradict Tregillis's conclusions that are based on faulty 26 assumptions and incorrect information.
- 27 c. Ackerman will evaluate the calculations and methodologies described 28 in Tregillis's declaration to identify errors. Ackerman will explain the

1 difference between the units reported to BPL on its statements [REDACTED]

2 [REDACTED] and the units [REDACTED]

3 reported by R&T on Fox's statement [REDACTED]

4 [REDACTED] Ackerman will demonstrate Tregillis's
5 conclusions are flawed, that there has been no underreporting of units 6 and that Fox paid BPL all amounts they are due pursuant to the 7 relevant agreements.

8 d. Ackerman will further demonstrate that calculating BPL's royalties 9 for The Squeakquel soundtrack album based on the Published Price to 10 Dealer ("PPD") without deductions is virtually the penny equivalent 11 of calculating BPL's royalties using SRLP with certain deductions.
12 The testimony of Ackerman will contradict the conclusions Tregillis
13 reached with respect to soundtrack royalties for The Squeakquel.

14 e. Ackerman will provide evidence of the substantial overpayment of 15 royalties made to BPL based on the enhanced Artist/Producer royalty 16 of 10.75%, as well as Fox's other potential claims of offset. As 17 detailed in Fox's opposition papers, if deductions are jettisoned from 18 the Agreement, Fox seeks recovery on its affirmative defense of offset 19 because Fox afforded BPL an enhanced royalty with the 20 understanding that BPL did not dispute deductions. Ackerman will 21 testify as to the amount of the offset.

22 f. Ackerman will provide evidence of the substantial overpayment of 23 royalties made to BPL if, as BPL argues in its papers, paragraph 10(c)
24 of the Agreement requires that soundtrack payments to Fox and BPL 25 be made on the same basis with respect to deductions.

26 12. Under the schedule, Mr. Ackerman's expert opinion and testimony is not 27 required until February 2014. I know from our exchanges with Mr. Ackerman after 28 learning of Tregillis's declaration that Mr. Ackerman was not in a position to prepare

1 and finalize his testimony about soundtrack issues, and develop his responsive
2 analysis, in the short time period since Fox received the Tregillis report on November 3 8. Mr. Ackerman has responsibilities in other engagements and had no notice that his 4 expert analysis or declaration testimony would be required in the weeks before and 5 after Thanksgiving.

6       13. In the event the Referee believes the parties' Agreement is ambiguous 7 with respect to the soundtrack terms so that expert testimony is necessary or 8 appropriate to determine its meaning, Fox intends to retain another expert who will 9 present expert testimony relating to the custom and practice in the music industry 10 relating to the payment of royalties keyed to SRLP. Fox had no reason to believe it 11 was required to engage its intended music industry expert three months before expert 12 reports in this matter are due. Should the Referee conclude that the Agreement is 13 ambiguous and that the issues cannot be resolved based on the plain words of the 14 contract (Fox submits that the Agreement is unambiguous), this expert will confirm 15 that BPL's interpretation of the Agreement – namely, that BPL is paid royalties based 16 on SRLP with no deductions – represents an unprecedented result, contrary to well-17 known music industry practices.

18                   Expert Discovery Will Further Contradict Karman's Purported Facts Set 19                   Forth in Her Motion Relating to Her Writing and Graphic Design Services 20                   Claims

21       14. In her Motion, Karman relies on the Bernstein Declaration and his 22 conclusions relating to the role of writers and producers in the motion picture industry.
23 Like Tregillis, Fox has not had an opportunity to depose Bernstein because the time to 24 conduct expert discovery has not yet even commenced. Fox intends to depose Mr.
25 Bernstein. Facts pertinent to Fox's opposition to Plaintiffs' Motion will be obtained 26 by deposition of Mr. Bernstein. Fox will diligently work to ensure that expert 27 discovery is completed pursuant to the deadlines set forth in the Referee's July 2013
28 Scheduling Order. (Ex. A.) No such evidence could possibly have been obtained

1 beforehand because the time period for exchange of expert reports and depositions 2 does not commence until February 2014.

3       15. A deposition of Bernstein will inquire, among other things, into the basis 4 for Bernstein's opinions about services customarily rendered by producers, including 5 inquiry into prior matters he has handled for studios where producers were retained 6 and provided writing. Fox will cross-examine Bernstein to demonstrate that his 7 conclusions are flawed and without foundation, including lacking foundation to opine 8 on Karman's expectations as a producer or of additional compensation. Fox will 9 determine whether Bernstein has considered any of the evidence in this matter to 10 determine whether, under the circumstances, Karman could reasonably expect 11 compensation for producer services that she insisted on providing. Fox will inquire 12 into Bernstein's knowledge of a studio's practice to require written agreements for the 13 payment of any additional compensation where there is a prior written contract in 14 place. Fox will establish through Bernstein that Karman could not reasonably expect 15 additional compensation for any writing absent the writer's agreement that she 16 rejected. Further, Fox will examine Bernstein about BPL's claims related to the WGA 17 credit proceedings to establish that Fox would have no involvement in any such 18 proceedings and that Karman's identification as a participating writer is not evidence 19 that Fox ever agreed or expected to compensate Karman.

20       16. In addition to a deposition of Bernstein, Fox will present its own expert 21 testimony to contradict each of Bernstein's positions. Specifically, Fox has retained 22 Judd Funk ("Funk"), an attorney who has worked in the entertainment industry for 23 nearly 30 years, including as in-house counsel for major motion picture studios and 24 entertainment companies, and who teaches entertainment law at Chapman University 25 School of Law and Dodge College of Film. Funk will provide evidence regarding the 26 role of producers that are also rights holders in the motion picture industry. The 27 evidence presented by Funk will contradict Bernstein's testimony in at least the 28 following respects:

- 1           a. Funk will explain that there is no hard and fast rule that producers 2           never perform script writing or provide graphic designs.
- 3           b. Funk will demonstrate that in the motion picture industry, a producer 4           with approval rights such as those held by Karman is acting fully 5           within the terms of the Agreement when she provides script materials 6           to express storyline approval or graphic materials to express character 7           approval.
- 8           c. Funk will testify that producers obtain consent from studios to hire 9           third parties if they intend on seeking reimbursement for the out-of-10          pocket costs associate with any hiring decisions.
- 11          d. Funk will rely on the evidence in this case to provide opinions that 12          Karman provided services consistent with her approval rights and 13          consistent with those customarily rendered by producers.
- 14          e. Funk will contradict Mr. Bernstein's assertion that the applicable
15          Writers Guild of America Theatrical and Television Basic Agreement
16          ("WGA Agreement") and the Producers Guild of America Guidelines 17          ("PGA Guidelines") circumscribe Karman's role in the production of 18          the pictures.

19         17. Under the schedule, Mr. Funk's expert opinion and testimony is not 20 required until February 2014. My colleagues who contacted Mr. Funk report that he 21 was not in a position to prepare and finalize his testimony about producer issues, and 22 develop his responsive analysis, in the short time period since Fox received the
